t be of extra heavy cast-iron pipe ection 20 All buildings shall be kept provided with per metallic leaders for conducting water from the fs in such manner as shall protect the walls and foun-ions of said building from injury In no case shall the er from said leaders be allowed to flow upon the side-k but the same shall be conducted by a pipe or pipes the sewer If there be no sewer in the street upon ch such buildings front then the water from said lead-shall be conducted by proper pipe or pipes below the face of the sidewalk to the street gutter ection 21 Inside leaders must be constructed of cast-wrought-iron or steel with roof connections made gas water-tight by means of a heavy lead or copper-drawn ing wiped or soldered to a brass ferrule or nipple lked or screwed into the pipe The tubing must extend least seven (7) inches into iron leader pipe Outside ders may be sheet metal but they must connect with house drain by means of a cast-iron pipe extending tically five (5) feet above the grade level

ection 22 All leaders must be trapped with cast-iron ning traps so placed as to prevent freezing

ection 23 Rainwater leaders must not be used as soil-te or vent-pipes nor shall such pipes be used as a ler ection 24 No steam exhaust blow-off or drip-pipe shall nect with a sewer or house drain leader soil-pipe waste vent-pipe Such pipes must discharge into a tank or denser from which suitable outlet to the sewer shall made Such condensers shall be water supplied to he densation and protect the sewer and shall also be plied with relief vent to carry off dry steam ection 25 The smallest diameter of any soil-pipe per-ted to be used shall be four-inch

he size of soil pipes must be not less than those set

Section 29 Overflow pipes from fixtures must in all cases be connected on the inlet side of traps

Section 30 Sediment pipes from kitchen boilers must not be connected on the outlet side of traps

Section 31 All traps must be well supported and set true with respect to their water levels The size for traps must not be less than given in the following

Traps for water closets four inches in diameter

Traps for slop sinks one and one-half inches to three inches in diameter

Traps for kitchen sinks one and one-half inches in diameter.

Traps for wash trays two inches in diameter

Traps for (bowl) urinals one and one-half inches in diameter

Traps for washstands one and one-fourth inches in diameter All bathtubs shall be supplied with drum-trap not less than three inches in diameter with three-inch trap-screws on floor line In case where an additional fixture is required in a building and it is impossible to get re-vent pipes for the trap the Board or Bureau of Health shall designate the kind of trap to be used This shall not be construed to allow traps without re-vents in new buildings

Section 32 Safe waste-pipes must not connect directly with any part of the plumbing system Safe waste-pipes must discharge over an open water supplied publicly placed ordinarily used sink placed not more than three and one-half feet above the cellar floor The safe waste from a refrigerator must be trapped at the bottom of the line only and must not discharge upon the ground floor but over an ordinary portable pan or some properly trapped water supplied sink as above In no case shall the refrigerator waste-pipe discharge over a sink located in a room used for living purposes

The branches on vertical lines must be made by "Y" fittings and be carried to the safe with as much pitch as possible Where there is an offset on a refrigerator waste-pipe in cellar there must be clean-outs to control the horizontal part of the pipe

In tenement and lodging houses the refrigerator waste-pipes must extend above the roof and not be larger than one and one-half inches nor the branches less than one and one-quarter inches Refrigerator waste-pipes except in tenement houses and all safe waste-pipes must have brass flap-valves at their lower ends Lead safes must be graded and neatly turned over beveled strips at their edges

Section 33 All vent-pipes must be either of lead brass loricated porcelain enameled iron or galvanized iron pipe

Section 34 All traps shall be protected from siphonage or air pressure by special vent-pipes of a size not less than the following tables

Size of Pipe.	Maximum Developed Length in Feet. Mains.
1¼ inch vent	20
1½ inch vent	40
2 inch vent	65
2½ inch vent	100
3 inch vent	10 or more stories

1½ inch vent	2 or less
2 inch vent	10 or less	20 or less
2½ inch vent	20 or less	40 or less
3 inch vent	60 or less	100 or less

The branch vent-pipes shall be not less than the following sizes One and one-fourth inches in diameter for one and one-fourth inch traps One and one-half inches in diameter for one and one-half inch to two and one-half inch traps Two inches in diameter for three-inch to four-inch traps One-half their diameter for traps five inches and over

Where two (2) or more water closets are placed side by side on a horizontal branch the branch line shall have a relief extended as a loop vent A pipe two (2) inches in diameter will be sufficient as a loop vent for two (2) closets A pipe three (3) inches in diameter shall be used as a relief for three (3) or four (4) closets and where more than four (4) closets are located on the same branch the relief shall not be less than four (4) inches in diameter All house drains and soil lines on which a water closet is located must have a four-inch main vent line where an additional closet is located in the cellar or basement and within ten feet of main soil or vent line no relief vent will be required for said closet but where it is more than ten (10) feet a two-inch vent line will be required Relief vent pipes for water closets must not be less than two inches in diameter for a length of forty feet and not less than three inches in diameter for more than forty feet

No re-vent from traps under bell traps will be required

Any building having a sewer connection with a public or private sewer used for bell trap connections or floor drainage only a two-inch relief line must be extended to the roof of building from rear end of main drain House drains constructed for roof drainage only will not require a relief vent

A floor trap for a shower shall be vented unless located in cellar or ground floor the paving of which renders the trap inaccessible If the number of these fixtures on a branch is two (2) or more the waste line shall be extended as a loop vent instead of back venting the separate traps and when located in basement floor they shall be provided with a removable strainer or cleanout Back-vent pipes from traps above the floor must either be connected with crown of trap with ground-in brass coupling or if connected solidly to trap must have a ground-in brass coupling at wall

Section 35 Where rows of fixtures are placed in a line fittings of not less than forty-five (45) degrees to the horizontal must be used on vent lines to prevent filling with rust or condensations except on brick or tile walls where it is necessary to channel same for pipes ninety (90) degree fittings will be allowed Trapped vent-pipes are strictly prohibited No vent-pipe from house side of any trap shall connect with ventilation pipe or with sewer soil or waste-pipe Vent-pipes from several traps may be connected together or may be carried into the main vent line above the highest fixture Where one vertical vent line connects with another a "Y" fitting must be used Branch vent-pipes must be connected as near to crown of the trap as possible

Section 36 All offsets on vent lines must be made at an angle of not less than forty-five degrees to the horizontal and all lines must be connected at the bottom with a soil or waste-pipe or the drain in such manner as to prevent the accumulation of rust scale or condensation

Section 37 Rubber connections for back vents will not be permitted without double coupling and thimble inside

Section 38 No brick sheet metal or earthen ware flue or chimney flue shall be used as a sewer ventilator or to ventilate any trap drain soil or waste-pipe

Section 39 Soldering nipples must be extra heavy brass or brass pipe iron pipe size

Section 40 Brass screw caps for cleanouts must be extra heavy not less than one-eighth of an inch thick The screw-cap must have a solid square or hexagonal nut not less than one inch high The body of cleanout ferrule must at least equal in weight and thickness the caulking ferrule for the same size pipe

Section 41 Brass ferrules must be of best quality bell shaped extra heavy cast brass not less than four inches long and two and one-quarter inches three and one-half inches thick and four and one-half inches in diameter and not less than the following weights

Diameter two and one-fourth inches weight one pound

Diameter three and one-half inches weight one pound twelve ounces

Diameter four and one-half inches weight two pounds eight ounces

Section 42 The closet and all other fixtures must be set open and free from all inclosing wood or other work Where water closets will not support a rim seat the seat must be supported on galvanized iron legs and a drip tray must be used which tray must be porcelain enameled on both sides and secured in place In tenement houses and lodging hou sinks must be entirely open set on iron legs or brack without any inclosing wood or other work

Section 43 Pan plunger or hopper closets will not be mitted in any building No range closet either wet or nor an evaporating system of closets shall be constructe allowed inside of any building

A separate building constructed especially for the purp must be provided in which such range closets shall be s

Section 44 All earthenware traps must have meavy b floor plates soldered to the lead bends and bolted to trap flange and the joint made permanently secure and g tight

Section 45 Water closets must not be located in sleep apartments nor in any room or compartment which has direct communication with external air either by window air-shaft of at least four square feet

Section 46 No water closets except those placed in ya and flushometer volumeters or similar devices shall be supp directly from the supply pipes

Section 47 All water closets must have flushing rim bow Water closets to be supplied from flushing tanks

Section 48 Water closets within buildings shall be s plied with water from special tanks or cisterns which s hold not less than six gallons when filled to the level of overflow pipe for each closet supplied excepting autom or siphon tanks which shall hold not less than five gall for each closet supplied A group of closets may be flus from one tank but water closets on different floors must be flushed from the same tank except flushometers v meters or similar devices The water in said tanks must be used for any other purpose

Section 49 In no case will the water closet system of te ment or lodging houses be permitted in cellars basements under sidewalks

Section 50 In all sewer connected occupied buildings th must be at least one water closet and there must be ad tional closets so as there will never be more than fift persons per closet In lodging houses where there are m than fifteen persons on any floor there must be an additio water closet on that floor for every fifteen additional p sons or fraction thereof

Section 51 In tenement houses lodging houses facto work shops and all public buildings the entire water clo apartments and side walls to a height of sixteen inches fr the floor except at the door must be made water-proof w asphalt cement tile or other water-proof material as proved by the Board or Bureau of Health In tenem houses and lodging houses the water closet and urinal apa ments must have a window or windows opening into outer air of sufficient size all of which shall be shown plans and shall be subject to the approval of the Board Bureau of Health Except that tenement or lodging hou three stories or less in height may have such window op ing on a ventilating shaft not less than ten feet square area In all buildings the outer partition of such apartme must extend to the ceiling or be independently ceiled and these partitions must be air-tight The outside partiti must include a window opening to outer air on the whereon the building is situated or some other appro means of ventilation must be provided When necessary properly light such apartments the upper part of the pa tions must be of glass The interior partitions of such apa ments must be dwarft partitions

Section 52 All urinals must be constructed of mater impervious to moisture and that will not corrode under action of urine The floor and walls of urinal apartme must be lined with similar non-absorbent and non-corros material

Section 53 The platforms or treads of urinal stalls not be connected independently to the plumbing system can they be connected to any safe waste-pipe

Section 54 Iron trough water closets and trough uri must be porcelain enameled or galvanized cast iron

Section 55 All water closets and other fixtures must provided with a sufficient supply of water for flushing keep in a proper and cleanly condition

Section 56 Water closet flush pipes must not be less t one and one-quarter inches and urinal flush pipes one- inch in diameter

Section 57 The copper lining of water closet and ura cisterns must not be lighter than twelve ounce copper must be stamped on lining with maker's name Where l is used for lining it must not weigh less than four pou to the square foot All other materials are prohibited

Section 58 Wooden wash trays sinks or bath tubs prohibited inside of buildings Such fixtures must be c structed of non-absorbent material Cement or artificial will not be permitted unless approved by the Board or Bur of Health

Section 59 Water closets when located in yard must arranged as to be conveniently and adequately flushed the water supply pipes and traps protected from freez by being placed in a hopper pit at least four feet below surface of the ground the walls of which pit shall be c structed of hard burned brick or stone laid in cement mortar or of concrete and traps used inside pit must extra heavy cast-iron and the trap to have a hand hole cleanout purposes The closet drain to be vented with a f inch pipe and carried up above the roof of closet away f any opening or window The water shall be supplied thro an automatic seat action valve The waste water from shall be conveyed to the sever through a half-inch lea properly connected The enclosures of yard water c shall be ventilated by slatted openings and there shall b trap-door in floor of sufficient size to permit of conven access to the hopper pit

Section 60 No privy vault or cesspool for sewerage shall hereafter be constructed in any part of the city where a sewer is at all accessible which shall be determined by the Department Board or Bureau of Health nor shall it be lawful to continue a privy vault or cesspool on any lot piece or parcel of ground abutting on or contiguous to any public sewer within the city limits The Department or Board or Bureau of Health shall have the power to issue notice giving at least three months' time to discontinue the use of any cesspool and have it cleaned and filled up No connection from any cesspool or privy vault shall be made with any sewer nor shall any water closet or house drain empty into a cesspool or privy vault

Section 61 In rural districts or districts where no sewer exists privy vaults shall not be located within two feet of party or street line nor within twenty feet of any building Before any privy vault shall be constructed application for permission shall be made to the Department or Board or Bureau of Health and such privy vault shall have nine-inch walls constructed of hard burned brick or stone laid in cement mortar or of concrete with bottom and sides cemented so as to be water-tight size to be not less than four feet in diameter and six feet deep

Section 62 All material used in the work of plumbing and drainage must be of good quality and free from defects The work must be executed in a thorough and workmanlike manner

Section 63 No person firm or corporation carrying on the business of plumbing and house drainage shall allow his or their name to be used by any person directly or indirectly either to obtain a permit or permits or to do any work under his or their license

Section 71 The department or board or bureau of health shall have power to make such rules and regulations and changes in the foregoing specifications relative to the construction of the plumbing or house drainage as said department board or bureau may from time to time determine to be necessary or advisable for the better protection of the safety or health of the occupants of any house or the community

Section 72 All acts or parts inconsistent with the provisions of this act or supplied thereby are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on final passage?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. This bill that has just been called up was the source of considerable contention. You will see by its provisions that it applies to Philadelphia only. After a series of conferences, those opposed to the bill and those who favored it have agreed, the bill has been amended to meet the opposition of those who orginally were antagonistic to it. It is now acceptable. The amendments made to the bill provide for the discrepancy that existed in the minds of those opposed to it. Therefore, gentlemen of the House, being one of those who was active in opposition to this bill, I would request that the members of this House vote for it. It applies to Philadelphia only and we are satisfied with it in its present form.

Mr. JOHNSTON. Mr. Speaker, I think it is due me that I should have some word on this bill. I want to say that while I am not the author of the bill I am the sponsor for the bill, having won on that platform that when the people of a district petition a representative it becomes his privilege as well as his duty to fight their issues in the House assembled here. This bill was handed to me by those who opposed my coming, and I am here to say to you that it has had fair consideration, has been much talked of; very great opposition has been set up to it, and I reaffirm what has been said by Mr. McNichol, of Philadelphia, that the journeymen plumbers, the master plumbers, the Health Department and the Survey Department of the city of Philadelphia have agreed on the amendments that I had the honor of presenting by unanimous consent last week. I trust that with this explanation the bill receive practically the unanimous vote of the House.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill may be all right in the main, but on page four, line sixty-three to sixty-eight and so on, it provides that every journeyman plumber who has learned his trade and become so proficient that he can pass an examination must practically take a new examination the first of every year. Look at the folly of that, just to do mechanical work he must take out a license every year. Take a physician who practices medicine. He gets his diploma and gets his permission to practice and he can work at some other business for twenty-five years and then he can go and hang out his shingle and practice again without a new examination, while for the simple purpose of a man working at a trade in which he is proficient he must take a new examination. It seems un-American and unreasonable, to make such a requirement.

Mr. JOHNSTON. Mr. Speaker. There is a misrepresentation in the remark just made. The journeymen plumber or master plumber has not to take an examination every year. The bill provides that if he now holds a registered license he can get a renewal by the fact of having that, and having taken an examination and having passed and secured a certificate it is a guarantee that each year it shall be renewed on the strength of the other certificate if it corresponds with the date of the year preceding, so that there is but examination for the license each year.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 695, entitled:

An act to prevent frauds against carriers of passengers for hire within this Commonwealth and prescribing penalties for the breach of the provisions hereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker. I would like Mr. Rhoads, the sponsor of this bill, to give us some information on it.

Mr. RHOADS. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not do any more than prevent fraud against common carriers. If a person refuses to pay his fare, or for the giving or transfers on trolley cars. That is all.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. McCLUNG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 639, file folio 5861, on page thirty-four of yesterday's calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 639, as follows:

An act authorizing cities of the second class to regulate the emission of smoke from chimnies and smokestacks

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That cities of the second class shall have the power to regulate by ordinance the emission of smoke from any chimney or smokestack

Section 2 No ordinance shall be passed by the council of any city under the terms of this act whereby careful practical hand stoking of furnaces shall be prohibited

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this is only an illegitimate child of the smoke ordinance which was stricken from the calendar some time ago. Any one knows that it is an absolute impossibility to use a boiler without having it emit smoke. And the six minute time is just as absurd as the eight minute limit. It cannot be done without the introduction of mechanical stokers, and the mechanical stoker costs all the way up to one thousand dollars to install, and there has never been one yet that was a perfect success. Now, this bill, as I understand it, provides that boroughs or cities of the third class, I don't recall which—cities of the second class pass by ordinance rules and regulations to regulate the emitting of smoke from boilers. Now this, gentlemen of the House, they have to-day. I am going to quote from the opinion of the Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs. the Standard Ice Company, a case tried in the city of Pittsburg. "It is, of course, admitted that the city cannot make an ordinance on any subject without express authority from the Legislature so to do. The legislative authority under which the ordinances in question are claimed to be made are certain sections of the charter act of 1901, P. L. 44, one of which is a grant of power to make regulations to secure the general health of the inhabitants, and remove and prevent nuisances." Further in the opinion the Court says "the defendant contends that assuming the power of a city under the law to make regulations in regard to smoke, the present ordinances are unreasonable and with this contention we find ourselves to agree. Hand stoking has been used continuously since the beginning of the use of steam and mechanical stoking has only been in vogue a few years, and according to the evidence is only partially successful." Now this bill as originally presented gave the power to boroughs and cities of the second class to prohibit by ordinance the emission of smoke. This they already have under the decision of the courts, and it is useless legislation. But an amendment was put into the bill which prohibited the council from making any ordinance which would preclude careful systematic hand stoking, so the sting has to some extent been removed. But it is useless legislation, and if councils pass an ordinance under it prohibiting the emission of smoke it would work a great injustice to the manufacturing ndustries of Pennsylvania. If you did not have smoke in Pittsburg it would not be the greatest manufacturing city n the United States. Up in Warren we welcome smoke. For these reasons, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I am against the passage of this bill.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Warren permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Warren allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, according to the nature of the interrogation.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, while the gentleman qualifies the nature of the interrogation, I would like to ask him as a matter of fact if this bill applies only to cities of the second class.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I understand so.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Warren live in a second class city or out of it.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I live in a borough.

Mr. STEIN. Then, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I desire to thank the gentleman who preceded me for his very frank admission about the legitimacy of this bill, because it appears from the record that the only legitimate thing about it is the amendment which my friend had the audacity to interpose. Gentlemen, this bill provides a very simple remedy that is needed by councils, particularly in the cities of Pittsburg and Scranton. As the law now stands, the councils of these cities do not seem to have the proper authority for regulating the smoke nuisances. All the leading organizations of Pittsburg and Scranton also desire to have some reasonable regulation of the smoke nuisances. Unfortunately as councils are now situated in these cities, they do not have the proper legislative authority. The courts have ruled that time and time again, and the next time this thing comes up for decision I shall refer my friend from Warren to the decisions of these courts. This bill simply gives the councils the necessary authority. We do not aim to wipe out any manufacturing industry, nor work hardships on manufacturing plants in our city or which may hereafter come from the borough of Warren. We simply want to regulate them as seems to be the desire of the manufacturing plants themselves, as well as of the boroughs and cities, and I therefore ask the gentlemen of the House to vote for this bill.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire the privilege of interrogating the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Pittsburg contend that because I do not live in a city of the second class that I have no interest in this bill.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, no, sir.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman here when my amendments were offered the other day?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I was not, but I read them carefully.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether there is anything about the amendments being put in secretly or not properly consistent with the rules of this House.

Mr. STEIN. No, sir, M. Speaker, except its nature.

Mr. HOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentlemen of the House in the spirit of fairness if it is not necessary for a smoke ordinance in cities of the first, second and third classes, as provided in the other bill, why is it necessary only in cities of the second class? Now, gentlemen, that other bill was withdrawn and it does not seem fair that the boroughs will be permitted to make smoke to pass over our homes and our manufactures in the city be prohibited, and I ask you to vote against this bill. I see no occasion for my colleague desiring the passage of this bill. He is not in the manufacturing district; he is in a hill district, a place outside of where the manufacturing plants are situated, and I voice the sentiments of my district. They want more smoke and not to harrass the manufacturers and not to drive them away. You can go within a radius of forty miles and get bonuses for manufacturing establishments, and if we expect to harrass these manufacturers it will not be long until we will call it the solemn instead of the smoky city.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, without desiring to take any unnecessary time of this House, I wish to say in reply to my friend that the former bill which this bill replaces was a bill regulating in itself the manner in which smoke may and may not issue. This bill does not make any regulations, it is not intended to harrass the manufacturing industries or cause the removal of plants upon whose existence the city depends. The bill now under consideration simply permits and gives the proper authority to the city council to make such reasonable regulations as the needs of the city may require.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEIN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Do you not think that under existing laws and the court's decision that you have the perfect right or the councils of your city have the perfect right to make laws and regulations eliminating the smoke if they are reasonable?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, the answer is no; absolutely no, because the court has so ruled, and I am sorry that my friend from Warren cannot agree with the courts.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs. the Standard Ice Company?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am sir, very familiar.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether I quoted the opinion of the judge correctly in that case.

Mr. STEIN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker. I would like to ask the gentleman whether he quoted in the beginning of the opinion, where the court says it is doubtful whether or not council had authority to enact such ordinance. Is that in there?

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, it is to correct that very dicta of the court that this bill is here.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was required by Mr. HOUGH and Mr. SCHOFIELD, and the result was as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The SPEAKER. This is the time fixed by special order for the consideration on third reading and final passage of Senate Bill No. 506 (House No. 906), file folio 5199.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 906 (Senate No. 506), as follows:

An act regulating the licensing of brewers and distillers and repealing an act approved the twenty-first day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven entitled "An Act providing that the manufacturers who shall pay a certain sum annually into the treasury of the Commonwealth shall sell only malt or brewer liquors of their own manufacture to dealers only who have been licensed by the court"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter any distiller or any brewer of malt or brewed liquors or corporation owning or leasing a brewery or distillery in this Commonwealth upon paying annually into the State Treasury of the proper fee hereinafter designated shall be licensed by the State Treasurer to sell their products at the premises described in licenses granted hereunder orders for which products shall have been received by them at said premises and to deliver anywhere in this Commonwealth or elsewhere by conveyances of said brewers or distillers and the conveyances of common carriers either or both the products of the distillery or brewery belonging to such distiller or brewer or corporation as follows namely Distillers in cases or packages of not less than one gallon and brewers in cases or packages containing not less than twelve pint bottles or in casks of not less than one-eighth barrel capacity Such license shall be framed and exposed to view in said distillery or brewery provided that any licenses heretofore issued by the State Treasurer to brewers distillers or corporations pursuant to existing law may be surrendered to the State Treasurer and thereupon the State Treasurer shall issue in lieu thereof licenses under the provisions hereof for the unexpired term of said surrendered license without the payment by the holders thereof of any sum in addition to the fees heretofore paid for the issue of said surrendered licenses

Section 2 Each individual firm or corporation operating more than one brewery or distillery shall pay the proper license fee for each separate brewery or distillery

Section 3 Each brewer the annual production of whose brewery in the year preceding the date of application for a license was less than one thousand barrels shall annually be required to pay a license fee of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250)

More than one thousand and less than two thousand barrels a license fee of three hundred dollars

More than two thousand and less than three thousand barrels a license fee of four hundred dollars

More than three thousand and less than five thousand barrels a license fee of five hundred dollars

More than five thousand and less than ten thousand barrels a license fee of seven hundred and fifty dollars

More than ten thousand and less than twenty thousand barrels a license fee of one thousand dollars

More than twenty thousand and less than thirty thousand barrels a license fee of one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars

More than thirty thousand and less than forty thousand barrels a license fee of one thousand five hundred dollars

More than forty thousand and less than fifty thousand barrels a license fee of one thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars

More than fifty thousand and less than sixty thousand barrels a license fee of two thousand dollars

More than sixty thousand and less than seventy thousand barrels a license fee of two thousand two hundred and fifty dollars

More than seventy thousand and less than eighty thousand barrels a license fee of two thousand five hundred dollars

More than eighty thousand and less than ninety thousand barrels a license fee of two thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars

More than ninety thousand and less than one hundred thousand barrels a license fee of three thousand dollars

More than one hundred thousand and less than one hundred and fifty thousand barrels a license fee of four thousand dollars

More than one hundred and fifty thousand and less than two hundred thousand barrels a license fee of four thousand five hundred dollars

More than two hundred thousand and less than three hundred thousand barrels a license fee of five thousand dollars

More than three hundred thousand a license fee of six thousand dollars shall be paid annually

Section 4 Each distiller the annual production of whose distillery in the year preceding the date of application was less than fifty barrels shall pay annually a license fee of one hundred dollars

More than fifty and less than one hundred barrels a license fee of two hundred dollars

More than one hundred and less than two hundred barrels a license fee of two hundred and fifty dollars

More than two hundred and less than three hundred barrels a license fee of three hundred dollars

More than three hundred and less than four hundred barrels a license fee of four hundred dollars

More than four hundred and less than five hundred barrels a license fee of five hundred dollars

More than five hundred and less than three thousand barrels a license fee of one thousand dollars

More than three thousand and less than five thousand barrels a license fee of two hundred and fifty dollars

More than five thousand and less than ten thousand barrels a license fee of fifteen hundred dollars

More than ten thousand and less than twenty thousand barrels a license fee of seventeen hundred and fifty dollars

More than twenty thousand barrels a license fee of two thousand dollars shall be paid annually

Section 5 Each brewer or distiller for a new brewery or distillery pay a license fee of one thousand dollars for the first year

Section 6 If for any reason a brewery or distillery shall cease to be operated for any period exceeding one year the production during the year last preceding the cessation of operation shall be taken as a basis in fixing the amount of the license fee

Section 7 It shall be the duty of every brewer or distiller to file with his application for license an affidavit setting forth the number of barrels of liquors distilled or brewed by him during the year immediately preceding the date of such application If such applicant for license shall make in such application any false statement it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to revoke the license granted on such false application. A license shall not thereafter be granted to such applicant until a penalty equal in amount to the full proper annual license fee for the particular brewery or distillery shall have been paid into the State Treasury in addition to the regular license fee

Section 8 A license shall not be issued to any brewer or distiller until said brewer or distiller until he or she or they shall have executed a bond to the Commonwealth with a warrant of attorney to confess judgment in the penal sum of five thousand dollars with sufficient sureties to be approved by the State Treasurer conditioned for the faithful observance by the licensee of all the laws of this Commonwealth relating to selling or furnishing of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof and to pay all damages which may be recovered in any action which may be instituted against such license under the provisions of any act of Assembly and all costs fines and penalties which may be imposed upon such licensee under any indictment for violating any act of Assembly relating to the selling or furnishing of liquors as aforesaid The said bond shall be filed with the State Treasurer The surety on any such bond shall be at least two individuals who shall each be a bona fide owner of real estate of value equal to the amount of all bonds upon which he or she shall be surety or such surety may be a bona fide security trust or surety company organized and doing business under the laws of this Commonwealth or under the laws of any State of the United States of America duly authorized to do business within this Commonwealth by the Insurance Commission

Section 9 The State Treasurer shall furnish all necessary application forms and blanks necessary in carrying out the provisions of this act

Section 10 That the act approved the twenty-first day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven entitled "An Act providing that the manufacturers who shall pay a certain sum annually into the Treasurey of the Commonwealth shall sell only malt or brewed liquors of their own manufacture to dealers only who have been licensed by the court" and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent with or supplied by this act or any part thereof be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, it has been the policy of the State of Pennsylvania through its Legislature for a number of years to pass legislation in relation to the liquor business undertaking to control and regulate the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. We may be ready to break away from that practice and go the other way, but if I can read the signs of the times and hear the voice of the people aright, we are not so ready. This bill, it seems to me, if it should become a law is a step in a backward direction. The bill provides that simply upon petition of any citizen of this Commonwealth the State Treasurer shall grant him a license. The bill provides for no method of hearing, no method of remonstrance, no method of determining whether this man has a good moral character or fit to handle this business in any shape or manner. The only condition attached to it is that he shall pay the license fee that the bill says he shall pay.. And when thus licensed it gives him the right to sell liquor in quantities described in this bill anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania. In relation to distillers, it gives them the right to sell in quantities of one gallon and upwards. In relation to brewers, it gives them the right to sell in packages of not less than twelve pint bottles or six quarts, with the result, it seems to me, if this bill becames a law, that all over the State of Pennsylvania there will spring up distillers and brewers making a regular business of selling this stuff in this Commonwealth. You see the bill provides that the manufacturer or distiller must have an order. That is true.

The bill does say that, but it does not say when he shall have that order. I might under the provisions of this bill give the brewer or distiller a standing order to deliver to him a gallon every time he comes there, once a week, once a month or five times a day. There is no restriction in the bill according to that. I believe if this bill becomes a law it will make the business of this character simply a peddling business throughout this Commonwealth. For instance, how will it affect local conditions? In my own county we have in the town of Mansfield a State Normal School with a prohibitory statute that provides that no license shall be granted for the sale of liquor within two miles of this school. This is for the purpose of protecting the young who go there for the purpose of getting an education and keeping them from the wiles of the liquor business. The fact remains that there is not a licensed place within seven miles of that town. Should this bill become a law, it puts it upon the same basis as the Interstate Commerce law, where the distiller can bottle his wares and can ship it in by common carrier, stage, railroad, trolley line or almost any other way.

Let me call your attention to another peculiar thing in this bill. Look at Section 7, page 8. It provides in that section, beginning at line 15

> If such applicant for a license shall make in such application any false statement it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to revoke the license granted on such false application A license shall not thereafter be granted to such applicant until a penalty equal in amount to the full proper annual license fee for the particular brewery or distillery shall have been paid into the State Treasury in addition to the regular license fee

Here comes a man after committing perjury allows him to go out and save his license and be reinstated. I do not want to take up the time of this House, and I know that you are tired and you don't want very much discussion. I want to say this, that I believe from the sentiment of the people expressed in this State of Pennsylvania that we should not put this law on our statute books, and I trust this House will vote it down.

Mr. RENO. Mr. Speaker, if I rightly understand the remarks of the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell, he is opposed to this bill on this ground—that it is an attempt to take out of the hands and jurisdiction of the court the business of granting licenses to brewers. I take issue with the gentleman on that ground. The State Treasurer under this act is not, in my judgment, bound to grant a license. He may refuse to grant a license. He may set up as an excuse for not ganting that license the character of the applicant or other reasons such as move him to refuse the license. What will happen? The applicant may go into court. He could go into court on a mandamus and petition the court for an order upon the State Treasurer, and then the State Treasurer can set up whatever reasons, whatever grounds he may have for refusing the license, and the court will review the action of the State Treasurer. Besides if I understand that it is the opinion of the gentleman from Tioga that the matter of the granting of licenses is to be left in the hands of the court exclusively, because he has been upon this floor on other occasions and has demanded that the people be given an opportunity of saying whether or not there shall be license, and he has attempted as much as any other man to take from the courts the power of granting licenses. I do not apprehend that the local act of which the gentleman speaks will be repeaed. This act does not pretend to repeal any local acts. It does not repeal any act punishing the violation of the liquor law. The gentleman has stated that this act takes away from the courts the right to supervise the sale of liquor. It does nothing of the sort. Every penalty imposed by the law for a violation of the liquor law remains a penalty under this act. And any man who violates the law, even though he hold a license from the State Treasurer may be hauled into the local court and penalized for that violation. In addition to that the act requires that a bond be filed, and I judge that that bond, under the provisions of the statute is filed for the benefit of any person who may be injured by the acts of the licensee, and I take it that every person in the Commonwealth is as amply, and the Commonwealth itself, is as amply protected by this act as under any existing legislation on our statute books.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, it is not my purpose to discuss the provisions of this bill. They have been discussed to some extent already. But simply to state that it is my conviction that this is the whiskey bill par excellence of this session of the Legislature. Even before the convening last winter it was the foregone conclusion that there would be a local option measure presented and it was an equally foregone conclusion that that local option measure would be defeated. We defeated some minor liquor bills last week and it was practically a foregone conclusion that they would be defeated. I think the advocates of the traffic are staking their whole upon this proposition here this afternoon. They are here in force, and what for? What is the primary purpose of this legislation asked for? It is simply in the last analysis that they may be enabled to sell more whiskey, or its equivalent, and make more money than they can under the present law. If they did not expect that the bill would not be here, and they would not be here. I think, gentlemen of the House, that the people in general will look upon this bill just as I have presented it here and they will take your attitude toward the business from your vote here this afternoon. If you are with the men of the traffic, and are wanting their good graces, why, as a matter of course, you will vote for this bill. If you prefer the good graces of the others, the opponents, then you will be opposed to it. Now, I am not going to enter into the merits of the bill. If the liquor business is doing any good in this Commonwealth or country, as a matter of course, they ought to be left to do all the business they can, and if they are not doing good I would defeat this bill, and if they are doing good I would defeat this bill, or their license bill, and let it be just as free as raising potatoes, or chickens, or selling milk. If it is not then I would at least vote this bill down.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me most unseemly that we should be having this special order for Senate bills of this character. It must be realized by every one that during the coming week all Senate bills will have priority, and therefore there could have been no good reason why the general order of business, and why the calendar of House bills, should be interrupted in this way for a bill of this character. Unless there is something more than the mere desire to expedite the business of the House which lead to such action. Why I endeavor to vote against the special order by which this bill was put on at this time, but owing to the rapidity and the confusion of the vote, I dare say my voice was lost, but I think as an additional reason why we should vote against this bill because it has been thus foisted upon us at such an inopportune time.

Now, as I understand this bill, it has a purpose which is to overcome a decision of the court by which the laws now controlling the breweries and distilleries have been recently construed, so that the courts say at least what it says, namely, that breweries and distilleries shall sell only to licensed saloons. Now, that bill seems to be clear enough, and yet it is possible to crawl around one of those small holes and they practiced it. The breweries had agents throughout various parts of the country and these agents promised to deliver, and the deliveries were made and in that way the whole purpose of the law was nullified, and the brewers sold just as if they were retail merchants. A very recent decision of the Supreme Court made that act mean what it says, and so the only way in which a change could be gotten and the whole practice legalized was to have the law changed. Now, Mr. Speaker, I believe that the law was right in the first place—that the breweries should sell to the licensed saloons, and that those saloons should retail the liquor, for I believe that this is a very serious mistake, if we pass it in its present form. Then, of course, the other purpose, namely, of taking it away from the discretion of the court and resting it in the political State official the granting of these licenses. Under the wording of the act that official has no discretion at all, but if he has discretion, he is not the kind of official, he is not a judicial official; he is merely an executive officer and therefore discretion should not be lodged with him. For both these reasons this bills ought to be promptly defeated.

Mr. P. W. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. I am opposed to the passage of this bill. A friend of mine said to me the other day, "Are you going to oppose Senator Kline's bill?" and then added that it comes to us with the endorsement of the Senate. In this matter we do not take issue with Senator Kline personally.

He is a man of fine personality and has those qualities that make a leader. I would gladly go out of my way to do him a service, but I believe that on this question he is wrong and that the Senate in passing this bill made a mistake. We are not responsible for what they do over there, but we are responsible for what we do here. I like the House. It seems to me that we are closer to the people and they are closer to us than to the other legislative body. Then let not the vote of the Senate on this measure influence us. This is a very innocent looking bill, but what will be the effect if it becomes a law, and why do the liquor interests want it? It is an attack upon our license system and is the entering wedge to open it up. The people, aroused by the refusal of this and previous Legislatures to alow them the privilege of saying, by their votes, whether strong drink shall be sold in their midst or not, have turned in despair to the present law (which was framed to protect the liquor interests) for what little protection they can find in it. It provides that brewers and distillers must be licensed by our judges before they receive a license from the State Treasury. This is a wholesome restraint, because the judges are cognizant of crime and its causes in their jurisdictions, and knowing this the manufacturers are restrained thereby. This act would take that power from the judges and, in a measure, from the people, and all that the manufacturers would have to do would be to secure their license from the State Treasurer. Breweries have multiplied all over our State. They cover the billboards with their alluring advertisements and peddle their beer around by keg and case to whoever orders it. In one sense they are more dangerous than the saloons, and require just as close watching.

Gentlemen of the House, we have recently passed a law to provide for the muzzling of dogs. Yet I say to you that the breweries and distilleries do more harm, cause more suffering, more distress, woe and loss than all the dogs in the State; aye, and with all the dogs of Constantinople thrown in.

Fellow members of this House, I have heard some of you say that you would not vote for a local option law, but that you would vote for a law to stop the manufacture of intoxicants. To you I appeal to vote against this measure, for that would be exactly in line with your principles. We have regulated and restrained the saloon, the little fellows, why not now regulate and restrain the interests higher up, the manufacturers.

Gentlemen of the House, if we enact this bill it paves the way for the excise bill and other like measures, all tending to take the power of government from the people and centralizing it in powerful appointive commissions. This is a dangerous thing. Beware lest we go too far and disregard the wishes of an aroused electorate. Early in this session I called attention to the policy of a great leader on this very question. Again I remind you of it. The people are crying out for restricted licenses of breweries, distilleries and saloons. They ask us for bread; shall we give them a stone? It seems to me we are following the example of a certain King of Israel who disrupted and ruined his nation. You will remember that after the death of King Solomon the people murmured at the burdens they were bearing and petitioned for relief. Jeroboam, the successor of Solomon, turned a deaf ear to their entreaties and said: "My father laid burdens upon you, but I will ad thereto; he chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions:" The disaster that followed is recorded in sacred and profane history.

Emboldened by their success in the early part of this session, the liquor interests imagine that they hold us securely in their grasp. They seem to think that all they have to do is to pipe and we will dance. They no longer appeal to us for what they want, they demand it of us. But methinks they have reckoned without their host in these closing days of the Legislature and are ''riding for a fall.'' This House has shown by recent votes on three bills designed to tamper with the Brooks License Law that we are a body of men who think and act for ourselves. Let us so continue. Let us resent this latest and most impertinent demand of the liquor interests.

Madam Roland, when being taken to her execution in the bloody days of the terror of the French Revolution, as her trumbil passed a collossal statue of Liberty, exclaimed, ''Oh, Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!''

Fellow Republicans, while this is not a party meas the responsibility now rests with us. We are inheritors a grand and powerful party, a party that sprang into istence by breaking the chains of an enslaved race, by s ing the Union and doing those things that tend to elev and ennoble mankind. We have been the party of the ple, we have made history and the names of our great le ers are immortal. Shall we now become a party of the terests, shall we betray our sacred trust to the most sel of all the interests and thereby adopt a policy that te to demoralize, to debase and destroy? If we do, then we well exclaim, "Oh, great party, what crimes are c mitted in thy name!''

Gentlemen of the House, let us brand as false the sta ment iterated and reiterated that ''Pennsylvania is a g ernment by the breweries, distillers and vendors of int cating drinks.'' Let us resent this statement and do it day by our votes to defeat this bill.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me we have p ty nearly reached a crisis in the legislation or attempted islation at this session. In practically every State in Union the cry is ''Back to the people.'' We all profess believe in representative government, but the question not down: ''Whom do we represent? Is it the people is it the special interests?'' You may look lightly u such a statement as this, but you cannot go back to y constituents and look them in the face when at the beh of special interests you reverse the policy of years. Brooks High License Law on our statute books has stood the brewer, the distiller and the retailer a little above Ten Commandments, as a perfect instrument for the gl of God and the good of the people. With such a revere for this law on the part of the liquor interests, the frie of temperance reform accepted the situation and, before ing further, studied its provisions. Then they found t properly interpreted, it did give a measure of local con over the liquor traffic. Keeping to the point at issue, friends of morality and temperance actually found that s of the plainest provisions of this and other statutes w violated by judges on the bench, largely because our jud accepted the law as if its provisions were mandatory, a unless the opponents of the legalized liquor traffic co show its illegality or its weak points, they, the judges, w required to grant licenses wherever the provisions of the for applications, petitions and bondsmen were met. In court of the county from which I come for a number years a license was granted to a woman as a distiller, w as a partner in the business, applied as agent for an est Then, when all three distilleries applied through individ acting as agents for heirs or estates, the law of this C monwealth which forbids the granting of a license to one acting as an agent was called to the attention of court, there was nothing else for any just judge to do refuse such license. Then, when the good people of county and others showed that this very Ark of the Co nant of the liquor interests, the Brooks High License L did not compel any judge to grant a license, but, if the plicant and petitioners could satisfy the court that a lice was needed to accommodate the traveling public, the co could grant a license, but in every case must hear petiti and remonstrances when presented and give due weight both the number and character of those signing for against the license. The court paid heed to the cry for re and after a moral wave swept over the county and an as ciate judge was elected, most of the licenses went Then the lines were again drawn and when the local opt and liquor legislation proposition was placed squarely fore our people practically all licenses went down and Now, how does this Kline bill effect my county? It s to our people: ''You are a set of fools. You are not a to judge what is for your good. The three distilleries t have in the past debauched your people and that you ha put out of the jug business will be granted licenses by State Treasurer and then, in the face of all your prote nothing can be done.'' Even if we could by a State-w movement secure the election of a State Treasurer as g and true as the Angel Gabriel, he would be powerless.

This bill is revolutionary. It denies by not providing it, the right of petition, or rather, remonstrance. The ch acter of the applicant is ruled out, there is no discret whatever, the State Treasurer must grant—for shall, every man knows, is a mandatory word. The applicant m be as corrupt as Hell itself; he needs no petitioners, he ne n citizens to vouch for his character or business, simply b dsmen in the form of a trust company or organization.

Gentlemen, have we lost all honor? Are we mad with p ver? Will we take a step that means for many of you p tical oblivion? Again, who pays the cost in the counties w ere the havoc is wrought? These applicants pay the S te Treasurer so much fee. Who pays for the trial or s port of the criminal, the insane, the paupers in your c nty and mine that have been made public charges by this u American law? Surely the counties themselves pay the p e, while the State gets the fees.

Gentlemen say that liquor from other counties and States i now shipped into dry territory. Why not give the chance f this gain to come to our local distillers? Simply bec se in our county the fact will not down, for experience p ves it, that a local distillery will sell more liquor througho the county, five times over, than all the foreign dist eries combined. The bill's one object is to keep by dist ers' and brewers' licenses the counties that are or will be d by action of the people and the court.

Finally, gentlemen, we all know that the liquor traffic is i efensible. It is condemned by the eternal word of God, vich pronounces a curse on him who putteth the bottle to h neighbor's lips. It is condemned at the bar of cons ence. It fills penitentiaries, asylums, almshouses, jails and o hanages with its victims. It has been given a fair chance a it fails every time. It has no claim to live. But we b ieve it is in the way of ultimate extinction. Let us now l ve it where it is and where it at present belongs, in the h nds of the people. To do this let us defeat this bill. In t name of the weak, the suffering and the unfortunate i every community, I plead with every gentleman of this use that they rise to the position as statesmen that Mr. G adstone did when he declared: "It is the duty of the g vernment to make it as hard as possible for people to d wrong and as easy as possible for them to do right," and b voting against this bill you will be voting right in the s ht of man and God.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, this bill is t new. As here contained in its amended form it came eaking over from the Senate in its amended form in the sing days of 1907. This House postponed that bill in finitely. And the advocates of a bill of this kind have t undertaken to do anything along this line until almost e closing days of the present session. The Brooks high ense law has been in force for about a quarter of a cen ry. All this time this law has been entirely satisfactory the liquor people. This law in fact has been the liquor alers' law. It was enacted at their behest, and they dic ted its provisions. Now, then, why should the friends and vocates of this measure desire to strike the very founda ns of that law, and trample its provisions under their et and ride roughshod over the wishes of the people? Be use I verily do not believe that the people are asking for law of this kind. Brewers and distillers, by taking out enses, can sell now to dealers regularly licensed by the urt, regardless of what the Court may say, and isn't this fficient for them? What do they want? In a wholesale or retail way not many manufacturers go to sell to the con mers, but they sell to dealers, and that is just what this w would take away from the dealers. This provides that gardless of what the Court may do, regardless of the rul g of the Court that they can sell to any one who might me that way, as you have heard here this afternoon. That entirely wrong. This bill would strike out all the control the Court, and if I can read, would allow brewers and stillers to sell on Sunday as well as on Monday, midnight d noon, to the old and the young, to the drunkard who es reeling home to the frightened wife and half starved ildren, or the man who is too much intoxicated to walk e streets, and in reading this bill I find nothing in its ovisions where there would be any control whatever. This ll would wipe out the control of the liquor traffic because says upon the payment of a certain amount to the State easurer, the State Treasurer shall grant this license. ow, then, he has no option in the matter according to the ll. What my friend, the young man from Lehigh has ated to the contrary notwithstanding; because I think that have read this bill over very carefully. This bill has no cuse for its being. It was born in sin and in iniquity and hope that this House will deal with it just the same as the ouse of the session of 1907, and vote this measure down.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the ntleman from Union county.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Union, Mr. Dershem, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DERSHEM. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman if he believes that he is correct when he says that this will permit the brewers and distillers to sell on Sunday and to minors? I want to ask him if he has read section eight on page nine, whereby it says that all of the licensees shall give faithful observance to all of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to the selling or furnishing of liquor. I want to ask the gentleman if he believes that he is correct when he says they can sell on Sunday in violation of any other law.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, I find no way in this bill whereby the liquor traffic could be regulated, for the reason——

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman to answer that question.

Mr. DERSHEM. Well, Mr. Speaker, when a man is cross-questioned he has the right to answer just as he pleases, has he not? I believe, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, that there is no way of regulating the license by the man who grants the license like there is if the licenses are granted by the judges, because if a man comes up to have his license renewed, if he has been told to do a certain thing and he does not do it, the judges have discretionary powers and can refuse a man a license, but if he sells on Sunday under this law, or if he violates any of the laws, how can you get at the man.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman again if he has read section eight, page nine? He can readily see that his statement in relation to this question is wrong and a misrepresentation to the members of this House.

Mr. MOSES. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, I am very much surprised that this bill was introduced in this House. I was foolish enough to think when this House refused to allow the Boyd Local Option Bill a place on the calendar that we were through with the license question for this session at least, but alas, our friends on the other side of this question did not think so; they have introduced a large one half dozen bills on the same subject since that time, and Mr. Speaker I think the bill before us is the worst of the lot, if it is possible to have any worse. Mr. Speaker, I wish I knew what else the liquor party of this State wants. I supposed their demands were all complied with. This House has certainly taken orders and delivered the goods. But there is another side to this question. Payday will come and the voters of this State will demand a settlement. The people of this great State will not stand for this class of legislation. Mr. Speaker, I have been a Republican all my life and I have always been proud of it. I have four boys at home that are voting the Republican ticket also. I have been proud of the party and proud of its principles, but this kind of legislating is driving thousands of the best people out of the party.

Gentlemen, show your independence by voting no on this bill.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schad.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schad, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says there is a provision in this bill which makes a brewer answerable to all of the people for violating the liquor statutes of the State. Will the gentlman be kind enough to indicate to me where it is?

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, on page nine, section eight.

Mr. ROBINSON. There is nothing whatever but the condition of the bond. There is no provision in section eight, page nine.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that he would read down further, he will find it.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I will read the section.

> A license shall not be issued to any brewer or distiller until said brewer or distiller until he or she or they shall have executed a bond to the Commonwealth with a warrant of attorney to confess judgment in the penal sum of five thousand dollars with sufficient surities to be approved by the State Treasurer conditioned for the faithful observance by the licensee of all the laws of this Commonwealth relating to selling or furnishing of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof

Is that the portion of the act to which the gentleman refers?

Mr. SCHAD. That is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, then that is understood that this is the portion. I now call the gentleman's attention to the first section of this bill, which says:

> hereafter any distiller or any brewer of malt or brewed liquors or corporation owning or leasing a brewery or distillery in this Commonwealth upon paying annually into the State Treasury of the proper fee hereinafter designated shall be licensed by the State Treasurer to sell their products at the premises described in licenses granted hereunder orders for which products shall have been received by them

I would ask the gentleman whether that does not give unconditional authority to sell liquor on the premises of the licensee?

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I would say no.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, well then, if it says no, what does it mean? Where shall he sell it, and what good is this law if it does not give him the right to sell liquor upon his premises? What privilege is given to him under this act if it is not that?

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, the same privileges that they are given under the license granted by the courts of the local and respective counties.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, no; the license that is granted by the court is under the Brooks High License Law, and that is full of provisions which contain penalties which put the brewer in the same class with the hotel keeper and the bottler. Now, it being conceded, as it must be conceded, that this is contained in the first clause, then we turn to the last clause, and what do we find? We find that "all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent with or supplied by this act or any part thereof be and the same are hereby repealed.'

Now, I leave it to any fair-minded gentleman; I leave it to any lawyer, whether in section one of this bill, there being an unconditional and absolute grant of power to sell, and in the last clause of this bill there is a provision that all laws or parts of laws inconsistent—I leave it to any gentleman whether the inference that is drawn by the gentleman from Union is not correct.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Reno.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Reno, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RENO. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Reno, has stated that as he reads this bill that there is a discretion in the State Treasurer as to whom he shall grant a license. I ask him to point me out where that is. And I ask him how he construes the language of this bill, which says that when the license fee is paid the State Treasurer shall grant a license. I will read it on line seventeen. It says:

> Any distiller or any brewer of malt or brewed liquors or corporation owning or leasing a brewery or distillery in this Commonwealth upon paying annually into the State Treasury of the proper fee hereinafter designated shall be licensed

Is there any discretion there?

Mr. RENO. Mr. Speaker, replying to the gentleman from Delaware, I desire to say that there doesn't appear in any word, or by any section of this act, specifically set out, that there is any discretion in the State Treasurer, but the decisions of the courts are that where an officer is vested or the duty resting upon an officer is not a mere ministerial duty, that in that instance the officer may refuse to grant the thing requested.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman, in reply to that, whether it is not a fact that under the terms of this bill as it is drawn that the action of the State Treasurer is purely ministerial.

Mr. RENO. Mr. Speaker, I do not think so.

Mr. ROBINSON. That there is no discretion whatever?

Mr. RENO. I do not think so.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I leave that to any lawyer.

Now, Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of this House, aside from other considerations it is to say to the counties of this State that have taken a stand in favor of the controlling of the selling of liquor within their territorial limits, that they shall be set at defiance by a State law. That is what it means. It means that in a county where the court has regulated the sale of liquor, and refuses a number of licenses, that any man—and by the way under the terms of this act he does not even need to be a citizen of the United States—any one man can go to the State Treasurer and by paying down his thousand dollars in the first instance, will have the right to sell liquor, that is to say, a distiller, or a brewer or a corporation may put his distillery or may put his brewery within the limits of an county in this State, and he may deliver upon orders eithe whiskey or beer or any other brewed liquor to anybod anywhere in the State. It does not even in its terms seem to confine it to points outside of the premises upon whic it may be sold. Under the high license law there is a provision that liquor shall not be drank upon the premises This bill is silent upon that point, and for anything tha appears in the bill the liquor may be drank upon the premises where it is ordered. It is true that it contains a provision that it shall not be sold except on order, but everyon knows the methods that are resorted to with reference t orders where liquor is delivered by bottlers. It is know that a general order may be given. It is known that th order may be given to the agent to deliver a certain quantity when he delivers one set, and that it shall be good fo the delivery of the next week. It amounts to nothing. I means absolutely putting it into the power of the distille or brewer to sell liquor anywhere in the State without an moral control, because the provisions of the law whic ought to have been inserted in this act, and which woul have made it responsible and in accord with the real statutes of the State, are omitted; and just in that connectio let me call your attention to another feature: This ac says that the man who makes the application for the license shall make an affidavit, and yet there is nothing i the provisions of this bill which makes that false swearing perjury. It may be urged possibly by somebody tha that may not be necessary, but if you will turn to th Brooks High License Law of 1891, it provides that th petition must be verified by the affidavit of the applican made before the clerk of the courts, a magistrate, notar public, or justice of the peace, and for any false statemen that is wilfully made in any way the said petitioner o applicant or applicants shall be deemed guilty of the crim of perjury, and upon indictment and conviction shall b subject to its penalties. So that you see here it is proposed to put into the hands of a State officer the powe to grant licenses giving the privilege indiscriminately t everybody, not necessarily a citizen of the State, withou investigation as to his moral character or anything else and the only thing required is the affidavit with no provision for punishment for perjury for a false affidavit, an what is the result. The State Treasurer may revoke th license and charge him a double license fee. Is there an provision in this bill for the revoking of the license, i it be true, as is urged by the advocates of this bill, tha the licensee is answerable to the penalties of the statute punishing the sale of liquor to minors and to intemperat persons and so on? Why is it that this bill has all thes matters eliminated?

Let me say in conclusion, is it right, is it just to an community in this State, which has sentiments against an proposed to control the sale of liquor within its territoria limits to pass a bill of this kind and make it possible; because this bill interferes with the licensed hotel keeper; i interferes with the restaurant keeper; it intereferes with an is unjust, I respectfully submit, even to the persons wh are licensed to sell. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of th House, I am absolutely consistent on the stand that I too when the other liquor legislation was before this House. took a stand against it because I thought it was not proper method of regulating the sale of intoxicating drinks I am just as firmly set against this measure for the sam reason, I do not think that it is a proper method for th control and sale of intoxicating liquors. As I said yesterday I believe that the proper place to place that responsibility is in the courts of this State, and I cannot understand, why it is, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House that a question of this kind should be so important tha with the mass of bills that there is before this House i should go through a second reading yesterday and be pu upon to-day's calendar as a special order without the opportunity to the people who are most vitally interested i it at home to send protests to their representatives.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House I had hoped to escape saying anything further on thi bill than what I said last night, but so much has bee said and such a wavering away from the point at issu has been used by the various people who have oppose this bill that it seems to me only right that we once mor go back to the real question at issue, and have it plainl ut before us when we cast our vote aye or nay in the assage of this bill.

Every bit of liquor legislation that stands upon the tatute books of this Commonwealth stands here for one r two purposes, and these two purposes go hand in hand. he first is as a revenue raiser, and the next is controlling he methods by which that interest shall be regulated. In 897, as I said last night, one of the primary objects of his bill is to repeal that act. In 1897 an act was passed which limits the sale by brewers and distillers to reailers licensed by the courts. Only a small percentage erhaps of the output of the breweries and distilleries in ennsylvania is in point of fact sold to the retailers who re licensed by the courts as they are in the State of ennsylvania. Now there is no use attacking the brewers f this State and holding them responsible for all that beer nd whiskey and strong drink does. Why, you can wipe out if you please; you can close up if you please the oor of every brewery and distillery in the State of Pennylvania, and yet there is enough whiskey manufactured utside of this State, and there is enough beer manuactured outside of this State, and there is enough wine anufactured outside of this State to supply all the needs nd requirements and demands, if you please, of the people f this State. Now, what is the purpose of this bill? The urpose of this bill is simply to allow as a revenue raiser n the same basis as it stands to-day, the brewery and istillery now in operation or hereafter to come into operaon in this State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as soon as I finish I will be lad to answer the gentleman. I will say to you that I ok no opportunity when he was on the floor either to nbarrass him, which he cannot do in my case towards me, et I only ask the privilege that he wait until I finish what have to say.

I say that the sole purpose of this bill extended and panded to the very limits of the bill is this: to give to the rewer and to the distiller under a State license what they n now have under a county license and to allow them to ll to the retail trade where the orders are received. here? At the brewery; at the distillery. If you will ead this bill, and I hope the gentlemen who interrogate relation to this matter have acquainted themselves with e purposes and intents of this bill, if you read this bill u will find that it positively forbids so-called peddling, bsolutely and positively. Now, how far does it reach? I ight be a local optionist in my own home, but I am t. I might be, but if I am a local optionist and live a prohibitory territory is there any reason why my xt door neighbor, who is not a local optionist, cannot t the water in some way, somehow, and have the booze, you please, delivered to his house? Is there any reason hy he should not? The reason that I do not want him . Am I selfish enough? Does he impose his thoughts pon me and make me do it when I don't want to? Fairss, breadth of mind, the American spirit to-day is a selfsertive spirit and the spirit that each man shall live that e that he sees fit to live and in the way that best appeals his conscience, his heart, his family and his fireside.

Mr. Speaker, this bill has been assaulted and attacked r and away, and awful pictures drawn in relation to hat it would mean, and yet whether this bill passes or hether it fails, whether all the liquor legislation in relan to breweries and distilleries was wiped off the statute oks of the State of Pennsylvania to-day and an absotely prohibitory law placed upon the State books, the me pictures could be painted with the same bold, fearful, vful colors. There is nothing in this bill, I repeat, that en need rant and rave about. It is simply plain and sy, and I quite agree with the gentleman from Lehigh, r. Reno. I agree with him in the breadth of his legal nd in that rests with the Treasurer as to whether or not license shall be granted. I notice that the gentleman om Delaware lays great stress upon the word "shall," d he is an old lawyer, an old practitioner, and I don't lieve—I would hate to think that for the sake of argunt that he would use that which he believes in his mind be unfair, and yet I cannot for the life of me think he es not know that time and time again have the courts, of the courts, not only the lower courts in our State, but the higher courts in this State and all other States of these United States, time and time again have construed the word "shall" as "may," permissive more often than absolute directory, and he, as a lawyer, Mr. Speaker, knows that.

Gentlemen of the House, I shall not appeal to your passions or feelings; we all in our lives may have seen fearful examples of excess in strong drink. I am not going to ask you for any vicious reasons to support this bill, but it does seem to me that the bill comes in here fair and clean and is a bill that only gives what is now given, a bill that only gives the people who may be living in their rights the opportunity of carrying out their wishes. It seems to me that such a bill should be passed by this House with an overwhelming majority, and now, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Delaware has anything that he desires to ask me, if I am able to answer it I shall gladly do so.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, the first question that I will ask the gentleman is whether or not it is a fact that the word "shall" may be interpreted as may, that an act contains some standard by which the discretion may be exercised. I would ask the gentleman if he interprets shall in this case as may. Where within the four quarters of this bill is there any standard by which the State Treasurer can exercise discretion by refusing a license?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, the gentleman from Delaware surrounds his question with his own conditions thrown about the construction. I cannot answer it as he would like to have me answer it, but I would say that it is my own judgment that the court would construe in this bill, just as it stands, the word "shall" as "may" and leave with the Treasurer the discretionary power as to whether or not he sees fit to grant a license.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman next whether an unnaturalized resident is not entitled to a license under this act?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, entitled, he may apply, but whether or not he would be granted it would rest with the Treasurer.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, where is the discretion?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, in the same clause.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not find it. The gentleman has stated that this law forbids peddling. I would ask him to point out anything that forbids peddling.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the acquaintance of the gentleman with the provisions of this bill seem to be somewhat similar to what it was with a bill on the floor of this House this morning—the Liabilities act. If he will read in the very first section at the top of page 2 I think he will find in line 18, "to sell their products at the premises described in licenses granted," which is their brewery or distillery, under orders for their products which have been received by them at said premises.

Mr. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, then I would ask the gentleman in response to that whether or not there is anything in this act which would forbid the driver of the brewer when he made his deliveries going around and soliciting orders at that time, taking these orders and delivering the next week?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, absolutely yes, for the reason just read, and I wish that I had a chart that I might explain the situation—for the reason that I have just read the orders must be received by the brewer at the brewery from the party making the order.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion being seconded by the requisite number, was put and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was required by Mr. MATT and Mr. BOYD and the result was as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASON FOR VOTE.

Mr. HOLLAND. I vote for Senate Bill No. 506 because it provides that the purchase shall be made at the place named in the license. Further, it eliminates the pernicious agent and the peddling feature. Also it relieves the court of a work when the brewers and distillers may now procure a State license.

I firmly believe in local option as an American principle, but one that should be universal in its application, and since that is denied us for the time we choose regulation.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. VON TACKY, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1283 (Senate No. 413), entitled:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate concurrence.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to ll up House Bill No. 770, file folio 4453, on page 80 of day's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and considation of House Bill No. 770, entitled:

joint resolution constituting a commission to investigate and report the General Assembly a plan for the segregation care and treatment feeble-minded and epileptic persons within the Commonwealth and king an appropriation thereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, is is a resolution calling for the appointment of a comssion and carries with it an appropriation of only $1,0.00, for the study of the segregation of imbeciles and ots. This you will all agree is a very important quesn, and this appropriation will barely cover the expenses this very important work. I might add that it is an ministration bill, and a bill that I hope will receive the vorable consideration of every man in the House, in view the important work of the commission.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, nsidered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. RIEBEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House ll No. 6491, file folio 5695, page 35 last Wednesday's lendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 649, as follows:

An act relative to the granting of licenses in cities of the first class for the sale of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors and fixing the proportion of the number of such licenses to the number of inhabitants thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter exclusive of licenses to inns or hotels having at least one hundred guest rooms the number of licenses to sell vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors at retail in cities of the first class shall not exceed the proportion of one license to each seven hundred and seventy-five inhabitants of such city as ascertained by the Federal or State census last preceding the granting of such licenses

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RIEBEL. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Riebel.

Mr. RIEBEL. Mr. Speaker, the object of this bill is to restrict judges from granting too many licenses. The judges can grant licenses on a ratio of seven hundred and seventy-five, based on the population taken at the last census, for each license. It does not interfere with any person holding a license in the City of Philadelphia and the only object of the bill is to restrict judges in the granting of licenses and it applies only to cities of the first class.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. J. Baldwin.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to sa to the House that this is the bill that relates to the Adjutant General's department and provides for a slight i crease of the expenses of that department. I have mad a very careful examination of the provisions of the bil and I think I can say to the House that if there has bee any bill in this House that has asked for an increase c salary for any department of our State that had merit th is the most worthy of any of them. I think the Hous understands the bill thoroughly.

And said bill having been read at length the third tim considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having vote in the affirmative, the question was determined in th affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Sena with information that the House has passed the same wi amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is r quested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consi eration of House Bill No. 698, entitled:

An act defining the purposes limitations and uses of State par authorizing the appointment of a State Park Commission defining powers and duties and providing for the establishment of State Par ler suitable regulations and rules with penalites for the violation reof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Juniata, Mr. Ail- n.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, out of my friendship for author of this bill and the great respect I have for him, am rather loathe to get up and say anything against it, t there is one word in there that I cannot sanction and annot be satisfied if I do not call attention to it. You ll find it in section 4. It says: "The commission shall ve power to receive and accept by gift or to secure by rchase or condemnation." It does seem that in almost ery bill relating to forestry the word condemnation must ep in, and in a great many measures the right of emi- nt domain, where there is no necessity to go and take man's private grounds for a pleasure ground when he is t willing to sell it. I recognize the right of eminent main in some things, as it applies to railroads that must from somewhere to somewhere, and as a matter of fact meone has to give way so that they can get through, t this is not the case in regard to pleasure grounds or mething like that. There is lots of land for sale in this ate and lots of ground suitable for pleasure grounds, and am very sorry that that word has been introduced into is measure.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, this bill carries no appro- iation. The title explains itself. Other States have opted this measure, or something similar, and I hope that e gentlemen of the House will give it fair considera- on.

FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN asked unanimous consent to call up or final passage House Bill No. 550 from page 48 of to- ay's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 550, entitled:

An act to prevent the issuing or transfer by any person other than a warehouseman or person controlling a place for storing of goods of any paper in similitude of a warehouse receipt and prescribing punishment therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That if any person firm or corporation shall issue or shall pledge sell transfer endorse assign deliver or in any way pass to another person firm or corporation the title to any paper not issued by a warehouseman person firm or corporation owning or operating a warehouse or other place for the storing of goods and not being a warehouse receipt but made in the likeness or similitude as to design or contents of a warehouse receipt and calculated to induce any person to believe such paper to be a warehouse receipt and thereby shall obtain the signature of any person firm or corporation to any written instrument or shall obtain from any person firm or corporation any chattel money promissory note check or other negotiable instrument or valuable security every such offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars and undergo imprisonment not exceeding three years or either or both in the discretion of the court

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state to the House that this bill is simply a bill intended to try to correct an evil that has existed in this State and has been remedied by similar legislation in many of the States of the Union. There has been a certain class of men going through the State representing that they were selling goods on warehouse receipts, which, as a matter of fact, has been false; they were counterfeit. This bill is intended to correct that evil.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary of the Governor being introduce presented the following communication from the Governo which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 16, 1911.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Con monwealth of Pennsylvania:

The Capitol Building Commission pursuant to the authority in the vested contracted with the eminent sculptor George Gray Barnard fo the preparation delivery and setting in place at the Capitol of ce tain groups in marble for the price mentioned in the contract to wi one hundred thousand dollars

I have received information the truth and accuracy of which ca not be doubted that Mr. Barnard has actually expended the sum o eighty thousand dollars and upwards in excess of the contract pric in the preparation transportation and delivery of these beautif groups of sculpture which are now being placed in position an soon to be unveiled and I am further creditably informed that he wi suffer impoverishment if he is not reimbursed for this outlay To m mind it would be both unjust and beneath the dignity of the Com monwealth to permit this heavy financial loss to fall upon Mr Barnard Aside from the commercial value of the groups which i course of time will doubtless be worth a sum largely in excess of th present cost thereof one hundred and eighty thousand dollars I thin you will be quick to recognize as I have the moral obligation rest ing upon the State to reimburse this great artist for the expend tures made by him and I am therefore sending you this message t earnestly recommend that a bill be forthwith introduced making a appropriation of the amount mentioned eighty thousand dollars t the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for th purpose of reimbursing Mr. Barnard for moneys actually expende by him

JOHN K. TENER.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. CURRIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House d now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to and (at 10.20 P. M.) the Hous adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. HEACOCK, from the Committee on Agriculture, re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 489 (House No. 325), entitled:

An act for the protection of shade and fruit trees growing on or along any highway street or road

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 523 (House No. 166), as follows:

An act to authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to extend the work of the Department of Agriculture so as to connect with it a system of outdoor or field instruction to be given throughout the State during the planting cultivating and harvesting season and making an appropriation for the same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the le That from and after the passage of this act the Secre- of Agriculture is authorized to extend the work of the artment of Agriculture so as to connect with it a system utdoor or field instruction to be given throughout the State ing the planting cultivating and harvesting season such in- ction to be suited to the special needs of the several sections he State and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions his act the sum of sixty thousand dollars is hereby specifi- appropriated for the two years ending June first one thou- nine hundred and thirteen nd the amendments made thereto having been printed required by the Constitution,

n the question,

hall the bill pass finally?

Ir. HERBST. Mr. President, I am more than willing to for the interest of the farmers or to help to do any- g that this Legislature can do for their interest. But I not see how this bill does it. This bill, if I understand roperly, provides for some fellow to go around when the ners are ready to plant and harvest their crops to give a great big talking to. Now my experience among ners is this, that when they are ready to harvest or t they want workmen and not fellows that will talk ut the simple life. When a farmer has a field of grain ay ready to haul into his barn and a thunder storm is ing on he does not want to have somebody come around give him a talk on the duties of the simple life. I k it is a ridiculous bill and I hope it will fall.

Ir. MARTIN. Mr President, I wish to say for the in- nation of the Senate that the Senator is very much taken about the provisions of this act. It is to hold lic outdoor meetings for the benefit of the farmers. It ot to direct him to plant or reap. It is only to inform of the best methods in cultivating his crops.

Ir. KLINE. Mr. President, I appreciate the statement le by the Senator who has just spoken, and as there ns to be some question as to the amount appropriated his bill, in view of that fact, I move that the question, ether with the further consideration of this bill be post- ed for the present.

Ir. KEYSER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

he motion was agreed to.

ILLS ON THIRD READING POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 715 (House No. 5), on third reading, postponed for the present, entitled:

> An act to amend the first section of an act entitled "An Act increasing the salaries of tipstaves in the courts of any county in this Commonwealth having a population of not less than five hundred thousand" approved the thirtieth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five by changing the limit of population of such counties and increasing the minimum and maximum limits of said salaries

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, at the session of the nate last night I objected to the passage of this bill. It ry materially increases the salary of tipstaves. I know f no position in Philadelphia that is more desirable than the office of tipstave. It is extremely nice work. It is ry fair pay for that class of work and an office that is ry eagerly sought after by people who want the position—n who do not want to do a higher grade of work. They get, I think, $1,600 a year now, and they have a very liberal vacation in the summer, and very easy work, at least with the exception, perhaps, of the criminal courts. The reat majority of them have a very easy life and pleasant le, and if there is any vacancy in the office of tipstaff there is no office which is more eagerly sought after than that. his money is the money of the taxpayers, and in my judgment it would be very unwise and unnecessary to increase the salaries of these men. For the kind of work they do ey are extremely well paid at this time.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Pesident, I wish to state that this bill ll apply only to Philadelphia county, and while the office tipstaff is possibly an office that many men aspire to, at e same time it is one of the few offices in Philadelphia here the men have to pay their own expenses. They have traved around and serve subpoenas, and I think they are id $1,600 a year. I am reliably informed that the expenses of these men each year amount anywhere from $350 $400 a year. There is no provision made anywhere for e repayment of these expenses. They travel all around wn at all hours of the night, and in our city possibly a an serves sixty or seventy notices a day. It applies only Philadelphia and Philadelphia County, and the county ys these expenses, if there should be a desire to raise e salaries. I think it is a bill that ought to receive the vorable consideration of the members of the Senate.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, in reply to the Senor from Philadelphia, possibly it is true that some of the pstaves of the criminal courts, a few of them have to rve subpoenas, but a great majority of the tipstaves have ne of that kind of work to do.

In the issuing of bench warrants is all the expense they ve to pay, and in most cases amounts to about $25 a ar.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I want to say that those the criminal courts number 39; they are the big marity.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, if we want to pay eir expenses let us have a bill to pay their expenses.

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, I am thoroughly in favor this bill because many of the tipstaves in the city are bliged, as the Senator from Philadelphia has said, to serve e bench warrants, to serve the orders of the court, to rve the subpoenas and many of them do not get through til seven or eight o'clock at night. In addition to that, ey are obliged, as the Senator from Philadelphia has said, pay their own expenses, their own carfare and the carfare of the people that they bring in on bench warrants.

There are no contingent expenses to meet this and, as the Senator from Philadelphia said, Mr. McIlhenny, it is a position that is sought after, an honorable position, a position that is filled by the judges of our courts, and a position that is generally well filled and it is a position that is well served. Under the increase that has taken place in the cost of living within the past few years I believe that they are entitled to a reasonable increase, and I believe that this is a reasonable increase, and hope that the bill will prevail for the benefit of the tipstaves of Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties.

And the question recurring,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, as I understand, th is the Brewers' License Bill, and as I am opposed to t principles of this bill, I am also opposed to these amen ments, and I hope every man who is opposed to a chan in our system of granting licenses in Pennsylvania will le his vote against the adoption of these amendments.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, when this bill was b fore the Senate a couple of weeks ago I voted in favor it, having been informed that in one of the counties of t State the judges arbitrarily refused brewers a license. the people of this State used no more liquor than I do, t brewers would have to go and seek a living in some oth way. That is the reason that I voted for the bill. I propo now voting against it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments?

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, while I have been opposed to this school code and am still opposed to it and will vote no on agreeing to this Conference report, I cannot allow this occasion to pass without paying tribute to the labor done upon this school code. In my experience of over a decade in the Senate of Pennsylvania there has been no measure before this body upon which so much work has been done. The commission certainly performed an enormous task in preparing this code and no doubt that after its passage if they realize all they expect from it they will have ample reward in the good that it may do to the schools of Pennsylvania and I hope it will. There is another gentleman who deserves credit for the work he has done. I refer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tustin. He has certainly been very fair to all the opponents of this bill and he has done an enormous amount of labor and I hope he will be very much appreciated by even those who opposed the bill.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I feel that I want to say something in regard to the way in which the Committee on Education has handled this bill. When the bill was before the last Legislature it was one of the worst muddled propositions that was in the Legislature of Pennsylvania. I feel like congratulating the whole committee upon the care and the skill with which it has been handled at this time, and especially the chairman of this Committee in the Senate. I wanted some things in the bill which I did not get and other members of the Senate and House wanted things that they did not get, but the bill before the Senate as a whole is the best that could be gotten from a sane, sensible, fair compromise of all the interests of the State.

. FOX. Mr. President, I want to add just a word to has been said. I cannot concur with the Senator from heny, Mr. Powell, that the bill submitted two years vas one of the worst muddled bills that has been pre- . This was a stupendous task and a wonderful propo- and the gentlemen who worked out the former bill are ıen who did part of the work. The man who blazon ay is always the one who does the hardest work. It pioneer to whom we should always give great credit. e that as it may I wish to add to the word that has so well spoken of the arduous labors of both the com- n and chairman of this committee. And I believe their will be well rewarded in the great beneficial influence e schools that will flow from this bill. We hope so se we all believe that our common school system is the rk of American independence and liberty and we trust it may continue so, and I think the thanks of this are due to the gentlemen who have done so much work ve certainly thank the chairman for his kindness in all fficulties.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE PHILADELPHIA COAL EXCHANGE.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senat the following communication, which was read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

THE PHILADELPHIA COAL EXCHANGE.
Philadelphia, May 15, 1911.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met:

This memorial of the Philadelphia Coal Exchange respectfully represents:—

That this Exchange through a committee has carefully examined th provisions of the various bills before the State Legislature extendin the liability of employers for injuries sustained by employees in th course of their employment and establishing a schedule of compensation for such injuries:

That this Exchange recognizes that present economic conditions ma justify an amelioration of the conditions which now surround th question of compensation to workmen for disabilities arising from accidents to them;

That the Exchange, while agreeing to the principle involved in th foregoing statement, objects to the passage of the bills now bein considered, believing such drastic legislation changing the long established laws of the State should not be undertaken in the short time a the disposal of the Legislature;

That an Act, authorizing the appointment of a commission to mak inquiry into all questions involved in industrial accidents and the compensation of the victims thereof, is desirable and, it is believed, tha if passed, it will secure the preparation and submission of a bill tha may furnish a satisfactory solution of the problem involved and secur a wise compromise between employers and the employed, and thei divergent views in relation thereto; therefore,

Your Memorialist, the Philadelphia Coal Exchange, earnestly petitions your Honorable Body to defer action upon the various bills no being considered in relation to Employers' Liability and early enac a bill providing for the appointment of a commission to consider th various questions at issue in the problem of compensating employee for injuries received in the course of their employment.

And Your Memorialist will ever pray,
S. D. HALL, President,
Philadelphia Coal Exchange.

Attest:
Charles K. Scull, Secretary.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, would it not be fair to the embers of the Senate to have the Senator from Alle- eny, Mr. Powell, explain what this means so that we uld vote intelligently upon this subject?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, this is an amendment in eu of House Bill No. 663, which is known as the Pittsburg arter Plan and which was amended in the Committee Judiciary Special to correspond partly to the second ll introduced by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Hunter, e Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Adams, Senator Cooper, enator McNichols, and myself, and the people representing th sides got together to-day and prepared a bill which is tisfactory to the people of the two cities so far as both les thoughts are concerned and the bill is a composite ade up of the best features of the three bills, the bill at was reported out from the Committee on Judiciary pecial Monday night, the bill introduced by Senator Hun- r which was lost in this Senate some time ago and also rtain features of the bill known as the Charter Plan hich was the Ehrhardt bill in the House and known as mber 663.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I represent a city of the cond class. I have resided in Allegheny county in the ity of Pittsburg, as you are well aware and I take excep- on to the remarks of the Senator from Allegheny when says that this is what the people want. I believe there e some few people in the city of Pittsburg in Allegheny ounty that want this legislation, but they have never yet nvinced me that it is what a majority of the people want d I think the majority should always rule and I think I n safe in saying that seventy-five per cent. of the people Pittsburg do not want this bill and I defy them to prove at they want it.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I represent four wards in e city of Pittsburg and am in business in the city of ittsburg each and every day. As I stated on the floor of e Senate before, I have over five thousand requests for is Pittsburg plan and I have yet to find a single one of ose who has requested me who is satisfied with any- ing which falls very far short of it and I have yet to find single person in the City of Pittsburg who is not directly terested in the government or receiving some emolument salary therefrom who is opposed to this measure and the eople of Pittsburg undoubtedly do want it. Every ewspaper in the City of Pittsburg with one exception for this plan and newspapers do not usually sup- rt things that the people do not want. They were against it originally but the sentiment has been great and overwhelming that every newspaper the city with the exception of one has come over to sup- rt this plan and it seems to me it is not a question of hat the people of Pittsburg want if this plan cannot be lopted. The people of Pittsburg are a people who work in e mills, who work in the offices and who live in the city and carry on their daily avocations in the city and these are the people who are back of this plan. A delegation of two hundred and fifty or three hundred people came here in a special train advocating this plan. Unfortunately a member of the bar of the county of Allegheny made a great many charges, some of which were not sustained by the facts. The city of Pittsburg is cleaner than a great many other cities. The city of Pittsburg has a good municipal government and wants a better municipal government. I am not one of those to cry down my home city but when I do say that the people are willing to stand upon a plan that that plan ought to be given to them. When they want a certain form of government which does not affect anybody outside of the confines of that city it should be given to them, and the people of Pittsburg and the people of Scranton have agreed upon this plan as far as their wishes could be learned, and the Senate of Pennsylvania ought to be willing to give Pittsburg and Scranton what Pittsburg and Scranton want. It cannot do any harm except in Pittsburg and Scranton. If there is any danger in it at all the people are willing to suffer what harm comes to them. Another Legislature will meet in 1913 and if there is anything wrong in this, the Senate and House ought to change it and it can do no harm any place else.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny possibly represents four wards but that is one-tenth of the district represented by him which is not in the city of Pittsburg and it is true that one A. Leo Weil came down to Pittsburg and vilified the heads of the different departments and officials of the city of Pittsburg. It is true that some of them were indicted at that time. Since that time the Director of Health and Charity was tried and acquitted, proving conclusively that the statements made by this man Weil were certainly falsehoods. I believe in his heart he knew this man was not guilty. He did that to intimidate and attempt to poison the minds of the people in the city of Pittsburg. Possibly the sentiment prior to this had been a little strong for the Pittsburg plan but since the trial and acquittal of Director Walters the Godly people of Pittsburg are aroused and they are now against the Pittsburg plan that has been here so long. They accused me of not betting the bill out of committee when they had one on the other side, wanting to work it both ways. They wanted us to vote for the bill without change or amendment. We were asked to come down here without any thought of the matter and without being consulted in any shape or form. They simply wanted because one head of a department was tried, and he has been tried and vindicated and let us vindicate him further by voting down this amendment.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. President, I do not want to enter into any controversy with any person in this matter or to discuss any charges which have been made against any individual, as I think personalities ought not to be allowed to enter into any matter here, but this bill as amended coming from the Judiciary Special Committee does not meet my approval as the best bill that could be secured for the city of Pittsburg for a change of government, which all parties agree should be made. I do think that the amendment is the best that I have seen yet. There has been no proposition submitted of the many bills I have seen that have been offered to this body and the co-ordinate branch of the Legislature that has met my approval so heartily as this, although there are things that I could not give my approval to, yet I believe that under the circumstances it is the best measure that we could offer the people. As the Senator has said, the people of Pittsburg demand this measure or some other measure. We have seen within the last six weeks upon different occasions the very bone and sinew of the business world of the city of Pittsburg. They have come to us, the most substantial business men in the community, not one or two or three or four or half a dozen, but they have come in hundreds, two hundreds and trainloads, demanding legislation that has been prepared in the form that has been submitted by my fellow Senator, Mr. Powell. I want to correct a statement made by the Senator, I believe he made it unwittingly, that was as to my joining in the framing of this measure. I did not join in the forming of it, but I did endorse it after it was formed, and therefore I ask my fellow Senators to help us in what we are offering to Pittsburg, a good clean form of government.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Adams.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Adams, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ADAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. WILBERT. Do you mean to say that a hundred and fifty people came down on this particular bill?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. President, I didn't say a hundred and fifty.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, was that before the trial and acquittal of Director Walters?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. President, the last question that we should stop to consider here should be the guilt or innocence of the officials. The question before us to-day is the best form of government.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, the sentiment created here was before the verdict was given on the back of the indictment, and I hope every Senator will take that into consideration when he is voting here at this time.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I am very sorry I cannot place myslf in the same class with Pittsburg. They are too big for me. As a Representative, and the only Representative of the city of Scranton, and acting on the wishes, as I believe, of a great majority of the resident voters of that city, and as a mouthpiece of the press, both daily and weekly, we are here to request the enactment of this plan. The people believe in Scranton that a restricted council, or a small council, would expedite business. I am glad to say that we have no ills such as I have heard of in Pittsburg to correct. We have been satisfied with our government and officials with the exception that we thought a large council was so unwieldy that it was very hard to secure the proper legislation. Our first idea was a restricted council. It went from that to the commission plan, and from that they adopted the so-called Pittsburg plan, and are here to-day to request the Senate to enact the Pittsburg plan or the substitute presented here this evening. I myself believe that we have as good a government for a city of our size as any in the United States. Our officials have never been accused of anything but what was perfectly honest, and I want to repeat that statement. We would like to restrict our council. We believe that the initiative and referendum gets closer to the people, that the people would have more say in the enactment of proposed laws, and therefore we are heartily in accord with the proposed amendment.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, the sole issue in regard to this amendment, as I understand it, is whether or not the initiative and referendum should be incorporated in the bill before the Senate this evening, and the question is whether the initiative and referendum is a good thing for the municipality of the city of Pittsburg. To my mind the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania naturally lead to conservatism and do not yield quickly to "isms." They say that the only place this initiative and referendum is known and is in vogue is in the west, in the new cities that have sprung up in the onward march of progress in the great west, and they know no other gods, but the men who live here in the east do know of other gods, and, as I said in the preface of my remarks, we are conservative people and yield not easliy to any new form of government.

Now if we desire a change in this great city of Pittsburg, or they desire a change, in any other city of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, let us go moderately like we would in any other business proposition. If we had one hundred thousand dollars to invest in a particular business proposition we would not give the whole hundred thousand into the erection of a building. We would necessarily hold back for the equipment and other things necessary to the business. You would not go into any business venture with all the money you had until you investigated thoroughly that particular venture, and now, my friends, so it is with a municipality. If there is a necessity for a change let us go at it moderately. Let us take a small council and see whether or not that will cure the defects and evils that that some of the people that came here from Pittsburg announced and when we do that and that is not effective then let us go forward and take the initiative and referendum. And this being the case my friends, I sincerely hope the members of this body will come to the assistance of Pittsburg. Aside from those that came down here, it is an easy matter to get petitions. I can get one hundred petitions to honor and glory a particular individual and to-morrow I can get the same number to hang the same man. What we want is to give the people a trial on this and see wheth that will give the relief desired, and then if it does not gi the relief, then let every city in the Commonwealth con to the rescue and take the initiative and referendum wi the rest, and I think that will remedy this question and sincerely hope the amendments will not pass.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, we desire the initiati and referendum in Pittsburg for the very reason set fort by the last speaker. It seems that when people get electe to office they get away from the people and we desire t have some supervision over their acts. There are Senato sitting in this Chamber who remember that the Senat who has just spoken introduced an amendment for the i itiative and referendum and went so far as to introduce resolution to discharge the committee from the conside tion of that amendment that it might be considered on t floor of this Senate. We feel that after four or five or s years of office the office holders change and they are n close to the people and we desire to correct just such chang as have taken place in the mind of the last Senator w has spoken, by having the initiative and referendum th we may have some control over those officials.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I am not a resident the city of Pittsburg, but I am of the State of Pennsylvani and so are all the Senators who are sitting in this body t night, and we are here to legislate for the whole people Pennsylvania. I agree with the Senator from Pittsbur who has just preceded me, that those who are elected by t people of the respective cities and counties of Pennsylvan should, and to my mind and to my experience, do kee close to the people of this State in their respective counti that they are elected from. This question has been agitat in this Senate for the past three or four months and to m mind it has resolved itself down to a political battle b tween conflicting interests in the State of Pennsylvani and it is not the duty of the Senators in this Chamber wash their dirty linen of Pittsburg. I think, therefor with the Senator from Pittsburg, Mr. Kline, that this matt is of too great importance to consider hastily. I tru the amendments will not be inserted in this bill.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. President, I am very much pleas to learn from my friend, the Senator from Pittsburg, M Wilbert, that the city of Pittsburg has become whiter th snow; nobody is more pleased to learn that than myse but I am just as well satisfied that the city of Pittsbu and all others that have similar systems have the wor system of city or municipal government and that is su ciently proven by the disgraceful affairs that have tak place in that city and other cities of similar character du ing the past few years, and they are matters of recor Now as to whether the majority of the citizens of Pittsbu are anxious to have a change in municipal government not I am unable to say, and I doubt very much whether t Senator from Pittsburg can say that the majority are o posed to the change. I am free to say that I received tho sands of communications, letters, cards, telegrams, commu cations in every form imaginable, written and verbal, adv cating the passage of the Pittsburg Plan in particular, b any general similarly good legislation, and I wish to say th I have not received a single written communication from a person on the opposite direction asking me to oppose t legislation. Consequently I must take this for grant that the majority of the people are in favor of the i proved municipal system of government; and that being t case—and I have been satisfied of that for some time— have been working diligently with this body and with tho that are not connected with this body, to cause a bill be framed that would come near to meeting the views all concerned, and certainly give the cities of Pittsburg a Scranton an improved form of government, and I have sa time and again that I would stand for a good governme or anything that would improve the conditions, no matt from what angle it might be. I did not take any posti stand for this thing, that thing or the other thing, and have pleaded with those who have advocated good gover ment to make some effort of compromise that would resu in victory for the people, and that has only been acco plished, I might say, this very afternoon. We have h bills here, as you know, I have introduced two of them, o at the instance of the Pittsburg Plan committee in the ear part of this session, and I have not seen it since. Anoth later, which it was deemed possible of passage and whi I really thought could pass, and which I was assured wou ss, and which would greatly benefit the city of Pitts-rg, has fallen by the wayside.

Now then, I was convinced that if any thing was to be complished that it must be done at once, and as our end, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, has said, ree of us got together this afternoon and we framed the endment submitted here to-night and I wish to say that ere is not a single word embodied in that amendment at is not a part of one or the other of the several bills at were introduced here. There is nothing strange about at bill, not a thing, and as far as I know, there is abso-tely not a thing in it but what will work for the good of e people of Pittsburg. I am positive as to that.

I also wish to say that there is nothing in that bill, so r as I know, that is of a persecuting character. Another ing that compelled me to take some action upon this mat-r, and to take it vigorously, is the fact that the bill ich was defeated a short time ago, and known as the nter Bill—and which I contend to-day was a most splen-d bill even though some of its features were unpopular ey would finally have been shown to have been the proper ing. That bill was amended, or rather the Pittsburg Plan ll as it passed the House with the recall eliminated, was nended in such a way, or supposed to have been amended such a way as to merely reduce the terms of the council-en to be appointed; but we found after the bill had been ported out that those who were appointed councilmen uld have their hands absolutely tied and consequently I fused to stand for any such humbug and nonsense as that pears to me and I sincerely trust that these amendments submitted here to-night will each and every one of em meet with the approval of the members of the Senate.

Mr. FOX. Mr. President, I have not yet been informed to what is contained in this amendment. I could not tch it in full as it was read. It has been suggested by e Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kline, that it embraces itiative and referendum and recall and that is all. That all I know of this amendment. A great deal has been id here about the need for a change in the form of gov-nment. Most of our municipal governments are framed ter our system of State government, which is very much e the systems of our national government, founded by the unders of the Constitution over a century ago. I do not be-ve it makes very much difference to any people what its stem of government is, and I give expression to this ought when we had the hearing before the Committee a w weeks ago, if the fountain is not clear the water is ing to be impure; and so if your people are not interested your system of government it is immaterial as to what ur system is. The great trouble in our country has been the last half century that most of the people have been o busy making money. It is the God of the American peo-e, I am sorry to say it, but it is true, and the great major-y of our people have neglected their government, par-cularly the municipal form of government. We have the d style of municipal form of government in our own city re, the Capital City. In the last ten years the people ve been close to the affairs of this town. Prior to that me they were not so close, there was not so much attention d care given to what was going on in this community, t ten years ago, through the efforts of our Civic Club, mposed of the ladies of this city, the men were stirred and exhorted to become interested in their city affairs, d they did so and in the last ten years, I am glad to say, e have made great improvements and we have been so uch complimented that all over the United States we are ferred to as the "Harrisburg Plan."

Now that is just an illustration of what can be done der the old system of government. It is just as effective any other system if the people will watch it. Eternal gilance is the price we must pay for our liberty, and you n not cure any evil by simply changing the form of gov-nment; the people have got to be there and take an inter-t in it and until then you will not have a good government.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, prior to voting on this l I would just like to state that the amendments I have fered are to take care of the citizens of Scranton, who uld like to be in the same class as we are. The city of ttsburg is a very wealthy city and we can afford to pay e councilmen $6,500 per year, but after consulting with a ember of the House, Mr. Ehrhardt, he took exception to e of the sections in this bill, section 4. The amendment have offered is for the purpose of reducing or rather making the salary not more than $6.500, and empowering council to fix their own salaries. I just merely make that clear to the Senators so as to show that we are trying to take care of Scranton, and if she is a little poverty stricken we want to help them along.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, if this amendment empowers the councilmen to fix their own salaries, it would be unconstitutional anyhow, because the members cannot increase their own salaries and have it apply during their term of office.

To correct one or two misapprehensions, there is no recall in this bill, and the referendum can only be asked for upon a very considerable percentage, and referendum is not something that the people of Pennsylvania do not know anything about. We have had referendum. We have passed I supposed about fifteen or twenty Constitutional amendments which will be submitted to the people of the whole State for a vote and the framers of our present Constitution protected the people in that they gave them that referendum. This Legislature from time immemorial has seen fit to protect people of the cities and giving them referendum upon bond issues. Now these things are not revolutionary. And then to correct one other expression, we are not coming here to ask Philadelphia to wash Pittsburg's dirty linen. We have washed our linen and have hung it out on the line before all the world and we are proud of it that we did wash it, and some of the other cities of Pennsylvania had better wash theirs before they begin to legislate for the city of Pittsburg. We have better government than some of the cities spoken of, who are opposed to this measure, and I defy anybody to prove to the contrary. Simply because we have washed our linen and hung it out on the line is nothing against the city of Pittsburg. That is to Pittsburg's credit, and the people of Pittsburg are interested in their government and it will cure these evils. They have cured them under the old systems but they say that this is an easier way to do it and that you are only hampering the people of Pittsburg by forcing upon them a bygone system of council and not giving them control over the legislators after they are not elected. I earnestly hope the amendment will be concurred in.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, if the Senator in his allusions and references to other cities has in his mind the city of Philadelphia, we need no defence for our municipal government or its integrity, its interests or its stability. Philadelphia to us is the greatest city in the world and has the greatest municipal government there is to-day in this great country of ours. We have something to show for everything that has been done and for everything that the people of the city of Philadelphia are called upon to pay for and it stands out there as a shining light and as an example to all in the State of Pennsylvania and I am proud to say that I believe that everybody in the State of Pennsylvania, with a very few exceptions, is proud that the city of Philadelphia is located within the boundaries of that State.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

An act making an appropriation to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for the purpose of reimbursing George Gray Barnard for moneys expended in excess of the contract price for the preparation transportation and delivery and setting in place at the State Capitol of certain groups in marble

Whereas The Honorable John K Tener Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in special message to the General Assembly dated May sixteenth one thousand nine hundred and eleven said as follows

“Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The Capitol Building Commission pursuant to the authority in them vested contracted with the eminent sculptor George Gray Barnard for the preparation delivery and setting in place at the Capitol of certain groups in marble for the price mentioned in the contract to wit one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000)

I have received information the truth and accuracy of which cannot be doubted that Mr. Barnard has actually expended the sum of eighty thousand dollars ($80,000) and upwards in excess of the contract price in the preparation transportation and delivery of these beautiful groups of sculpture which are now being placed in position and soon to be unveiled and I am further creditably informed that he will suffer impoverishment is he is not reimbursed for this outlay To my mind it would be both unjust and beneath the dignity of the Commonwealth to permit this heavy financial loss to fall upon Mr. Barnard Aside from the commercial value of the groups which in course of time will doubtless be worth a sum largely in excess of the present cost thereof (one hundred and eighty thousand dollars) I think you will be quick to recognize as I have the moral obligation resting upon the State to reimburse this great artist for the expenditures made by him and I am therefore sending you this message to earnestly recommend that a bill be forthwith introduced making an appropriation of the amount mentioned eighty thousand dollars ($80,000) to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for the purpose of reimbursing Mr. Barnard for moneys actually expended by him

JOHN K. TENER.

Therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of eighty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for the purpose of reimbursing George Gray Barnard for moneys actually expended in excess of the contract price entered into between the Capitol Building Commission and the said George Gray Barnard for the preparation transportation delivery and setting in place of certain groups in marble on either side of the main entrance to the Capitol building Said appropriation to be paid by warrant of the Auditor General upon the State Treasurer upon presentation to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings by the said George Gray Barnard of itemized vouchers showing the cost of preparation transportation delivery and setting in place at the State Capitol of said groups

e Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the ving extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING APPOINTMENT OF DELEGATE TO SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF ESPERANTISTS TO BE HELD AT ANTWERP, BELGIUM.

In the Senate, May 9, 1911.

Whereas, The famous international language, Esperanto, intended to facilitate communication between people and races speaking different tongues, has been and is making vast strides throughout the world; and

Whereas, The seventh International Congress of Esperantists will meet in Antwerp, Belgium, in August, one thousand nine hundred and eleven; and

Whereas, The students and adherents of this language are working to bring about universal peace and a closer union among the races of the world; and

Whereas, Official representatives from many nations have attended these congresses and will attend the coming one in Antwerp; and

Whereas, The United States Government has been and will be represented officially at these congresses; and

Whereas, It is fitting that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be officially represented at the seventh congress; therefore

Be it resolved by the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor is hereby authorized and directed to appoint one male citizen of this Commonwealth, skilled in Esperanto, to represent this Commonwealth at the seventh International Congress of Esperantists to be held in the city of Antwerp, in August, one thousand nine hundred and eleven. Such representative shall serve without compensation from or expense of any nature to this Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The resolution was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 918, entitled:

An act making an appropriation to the American Art Society of Philadelphia for the purpose of encouraging American art

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I recognize the fact that amid all this mass of appropriation bills in most cases it is necessary, as it is wise, to accept the verdict of the Appropriations Committee on the question of the relative amounts that should be appropriated to the different institutions. It is of course impossible for the House to weigh each appropriation, but when money is contributed to an institution entirely unworthy of State aid, then it seems to me to be proper to ask the House to this extent to go against the recommendation of the Appropriation's Committee. Now, the American Art Society of Philadelphia has gotten this appropriation every year for years, and the same society receives aid from the Councils of the city of Philadelphia. I have made it somewhat my business to make an investigation of the operation of this society and have discussed it with people of authority on the art question in Philadelphia, and I have come to the conclusion that the money is not adequately and properly used; that it does not have the effect it is supposed to have, and that it does not really encourage the best kind of American art. Now, I made an investigation of the vouchers of this society, on file the Auditor General's office, showing the expenditures of society for the last two years. I have copied each vouc that is for one hundred dollars or over, and I want House to listen and see just exactly where this money going. In the first place, you ought to know that the ch mover in this society is the editor or proprietor of Philadelphia Item. He is Harrington Fitzgerald. He
the treasurer of the American Art Society. These are vouchers of one hundred dollars or over:

VOUCHERS OF $100 OR OVER.

June	2, 1909,	To one landscape, "Spring," G. W. Nicholson	100
July	6, 1909.	"Landscape," G. W. Nicholson" ...	150

Sept.	6, 1910.	To one marine and one landscape, G. W. Nicholson	250.
Dec.	7, 1910.	H. Fitzgerald, salary, 6 months, from June 1 to December 1, 1910	400.
Dec.	7, 1910.	G. W. Nicholson, for one painting, "Unknown," $125.00, and one painting, "The Creek," $125.00..	250.
Jan.	3, 1911.	Hampton L. Carson, Atty., rent, 727 Walnut St., one year from January 1, 1910, to June, 1911 ...	150.
Jan.	3, 1911.	H. Fitzgerald, salary, from December 1, 1910, to March 1, 1911.....	200.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I hardly think this b ought to be attacked in this manner in the absence of t sponsor. The appropriation was first made during the te of Governor Pennypacker. It is all right and ought to pa
We have reduced the appropriation two thousand dolla from what it was in 1909. The society is dependent up the State appropriation, and it would be a very unfortuna thing were this bill to be defeated.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. I regret very much that the ge tleman has seen fit to attack this bill in the absence of t sponsor. As you no doubt know from the newspaper r ports, Mr. Shern is a very sick man, and is confined the hospital. This is an appropriation in which he is ve much interested. This is a meritorious appropriation.
is not a new one, and has been made at various times this Legislature. It is an appropriation for the purpo of maintaining this exhibition of art. Not only the peop of this Commonwealth, but the citizens of the city of Phil delphia have faith in the worthiness of this institution, an the councils also have aided in maintaining this exhibiti of art. It is needless for the gentleman from Philade phia to decry this worthy institution. This is broug about merely by one of our other art societies in Philade phia for the purpose of having a rival exhibition, and hold in its own hands the power to make the artist, or bring to the front those who have ability, and at the sam time to keep down the obscure young struggling artist wh will not have the sanction of this institution. Those wh are conducting this society deserve the credit and the a plause of this whole Commonwealth, because it is meri and merit alone, that prevails in the exhibition of th products of the artists. It is not a question of famil not a question of standing, not a question of name, and tha is the character of the institution which should have ou aid, and I ask you, in the absence of Mr. Shern, to giv this your consideration and not allow the attacks on th bill to be sustained.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of th House, I think the gentleman who has just taken his sea has failed to properly understand the vouchers which I hav just read. The only struggling artist to receive much ai from this society is G. W. Nicholson, and is not young struggling by any means. I regret that the sponsor

t bill is not here, and I therefore move that the further c sideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker and gentle- n of the House, I would like to vote for this bill, but I ıld like before voting for it to interrogate the gentle- n from Philadelphia, Mr. J. R. K. Scott.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, J. R. K. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I decline to be in- t rogated, because the gentleman from Delaware asks too ny questions.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, the question I esired to ask was whether this was an institution that uld have State aid, and if it is, that some reasonable e lanation be given why a gentleman of the standing of Fitzgerald should take out of the State appropriation t sum of eight hundred dollars a year for salary. If t is a meritorious institution, and should have six thou- d dollars appropriated by the State, then I think he o ht to contribute his services and should not ask us t contribute at the rate of eight hundred dollars a year f his services.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, c sidered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas l nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:
